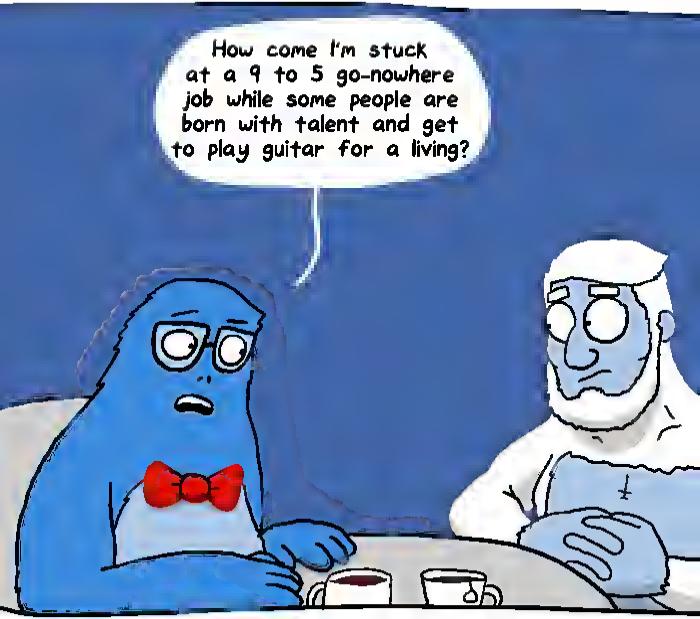
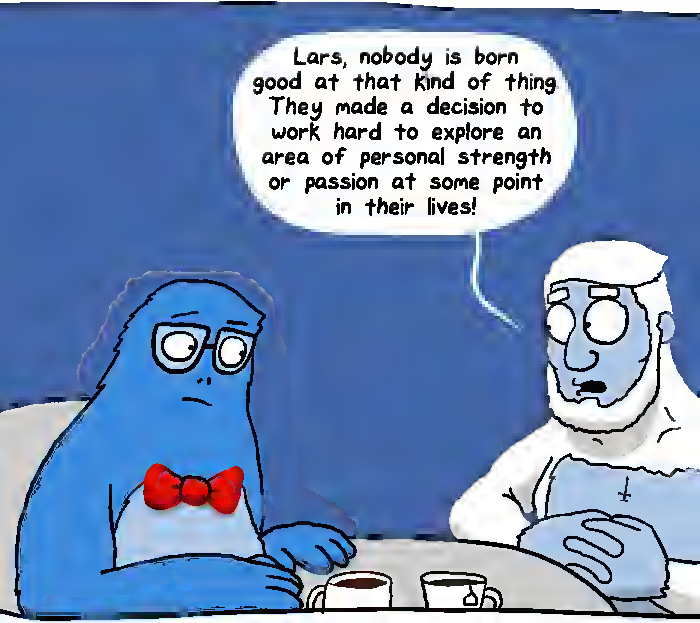
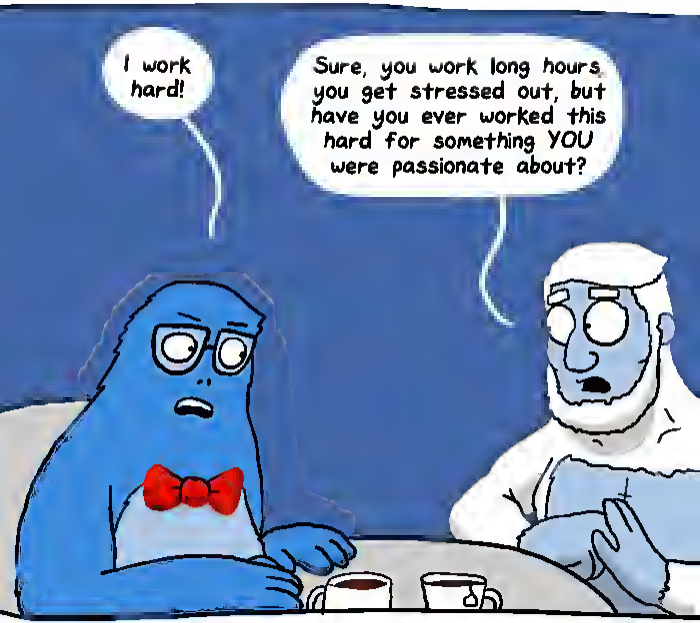
Lars



How come I'm stuck at a 9 to 5 go-nowhere job while some people are born with talent and get to play guitar for a living?

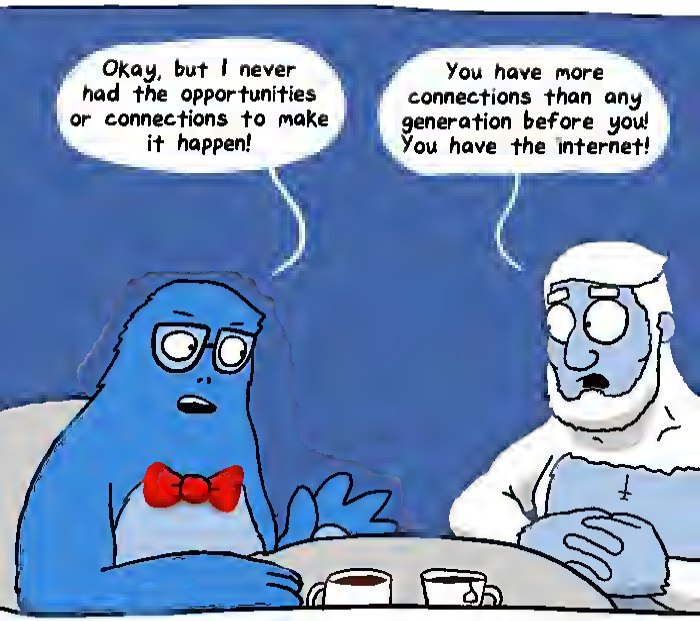


Lars, nobody is born good at that kind of thing They made a decision to work hard to explore an area of personal strength or passion at some point in their lives!

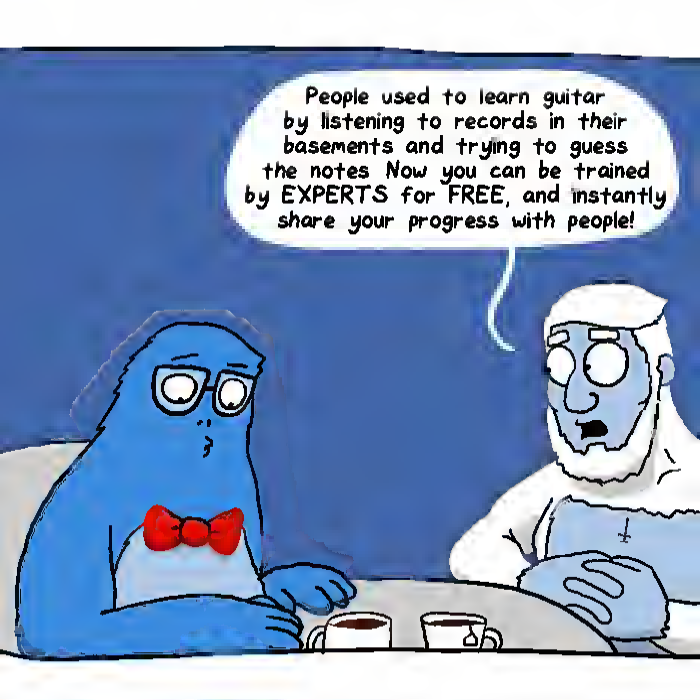


I work hard!
Sure, you work long hours you get stressed out, but have you ever worked this hard for something YOU were passionate about?

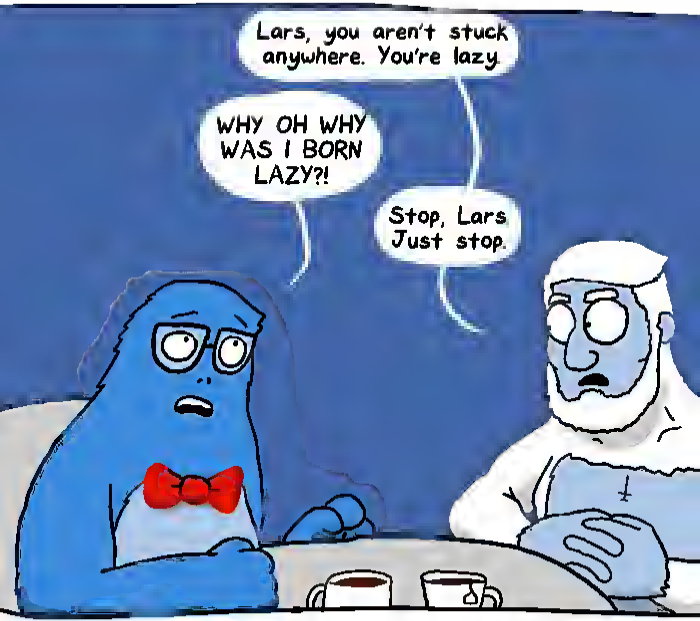
Not at all
Well that's not the fault of the guitar players or the people who have "made it"— That's your fault



Okay, but I never had the opportunities or connections to make it happen!
You have more connections than any generation before you! You have the internet!



People used to learn guitar by listening to records in their basements and trying to guess the notes Now you can be trained by EXPERTS for FREE, and instantly share your progress with people!



Lars, you aren't stuck anywhere. You're lazy.
WHY OH WHY WAS I BORN LAZY?!
Stop, Lars. Just stop.
